Your mission (should you decide to accept it) will be to help in the writing and follow-up of all those deliverables, which are key to support the growth of the company.

They can have a technical content (describe technical solutions, user needs, etc.), financial (business plan, projections), organisational (planning, etc.), or, most of the time, all at the same time.

All our projects and activities are done in Lean Startup (Agile) methodology.

REQUIREMENTS

Did you study science and still have a bit of a literary bent?

Do you like writing during your free time?

Do you like to travel, especially to far and remote countries?
